ACS SA & NT, in conjunction with Aged & Community Services Australia and the Aged Care Association of Australia, has secured funding to conduct workshops to outline the key changes to workplace law as a result of the Fair Work Act 2009.

The workshops will give an overview of the relevant key features of the Act, including:

- The safety net of minimum employment conditions;
- Unfair dismissal provisions;
- Collective bargaining and enterprise agreements;
- The Fair Work Australia institutions and
- Modern awards.

Participants will gain a better understanding of the opportunities and flexibilities offered by Australia's workplace relations system.

The training and support is being offered free-of-charge to employers and employees in the aged care industry. In SA, seven sessions across metropolitan and regional SA are being offered.

The sessions are being presented by Shayne Bakewell, EMA Consulting.
