This is a must-attend workshop for chief executives, directors of care and facility managers! This workshop will provide the policy context for food safety programs and the legislation, and assist you to identify specific business and food safety risks with your food operations.

For several years the Federal Government has been developing a national food safety policy. An important aspect of this policy is the agreement by all state and territory governments to a consistent approach to management of food safety risk at the facility level. One outcome of the agreement is the legislative requirement for health care facilities to develop food safety programs by 5 October 2008.

ACS is flying in national expert Jim Smith for one day only!

Public health and food safety management consultant, Dr Jim Smith, and TAFE SA lecturer Andrew Thomson will advise on the legislation and approaches to managing your risks, food safety program development, and effective implementation issues.
